Match and Gets Ham—Rustic Setting Makes
Lass Homesick.

"F.F.Far, M.M.Mer, Farmers!" flashed the electric sign in front of Rothwell Gymnasium last night as the four hundred triumphant Farmers poured into their sixteenth annual Barn-warming.

The milking over, Hiram hitched up old Dobbin, put on his Sunday-go-to-meeting overalls and started out for the big doings at Judge Phelan's barn. Lizzie was setting waiting for him at the next gate looking all spruced up in her new gingham apron with sunbonnet to match, her feet just patting to her favorite "Turkey in the Straw." Dobbin was afraid his oats and they got in jig time passing all the horses in the countryside, even Squire Brown's old grey mare.

Squire Phelan had just naturally done things up brown. He made everybody come in the old south window and course all the gals screamed when they lit on the haystack. Lizzie was so scared that she had hurt her dress, but she hadn't of course, so she decided to try some more of Squire Phelan's pranks. The hallway was awful dark, but Lizzie didn't mind cause Hiram was there.

And didn't Lizzie just naturally whistle without any persuasion when she saw how that dance floor was all spruced up! Over the top was a canopy of leaves and greenery while in the middle sat the orchestra in an honest-to-goodness tree roosting up there like a lot of chickens.
And speaking of chickens there sat some of the real things in the goals. My!
Things looked homelike to Lizzie. The posts of the barn were all covered with gold and on the middle one hung an old make-believe hog which flashed the numbers of the dances and kept Lizzie from getting stuck.

Just guess who was Harvest Queen?
It was Lourena Brown and she sat on a throne made of a straw and inside a corn shock all lined and everything. The throne itself was all decorated with kaffir corn. Then of course there was a grand march led by Dean Mumford and the Queen.

Pretty soon Lizzie got tired, so she and Hiram went upstairs to investigate and it was sure well up there—all fixed up with nice little booths of straw for her and Hiram to sit in and right in the middle was a great big tree.

Prewitt Turner won the jigging match and got a ham. Then between the fourth and fifth dance the barnyard quartet consisting of Merle Greider, Floyd Barnhart, Ennis Cooley, and Bob Witherell, sang.

Squire Phelan had asked all the neighbors in to watch the you-g-folks caper around and here are the ones that had come: President and Mrs. J. C. Jones of the University; President and Mrs.
J. M. Wood of Stephens College; President and Mrs. E. D. Lee of Christian College; Dean and Mrs. F. B. Mumford; 758 Hunters Licenses Issued.

Seven hundred and fifty-eight hunters licenses have been issued from the county clerk's office. Approximately fifty more had been issued at this time last year, according to Charles W. Davis, county clerk. "We expect last year's number to be equalled in November," Mr. Davis said, "when the quail hunters get busy."

GUNS ARE ALL READY AND SPORTSMEN WAIT EAGERLY FOR NOV. 10

Duck hunters who have been unsuccessful so far this season may take solace in the thought that the bobwhite is plentiful this fall. According to I. T.
Cook, local Nimrod, quail are more numerous this season than they have been for the last seven or eight years. He expects the hunting for both ducks and quail to be good next month. When asked the reason for the large number of quail he answered, "It's because of the high cost of ammunition. The country boy can't take his gun and go hunting so often as he used to."

Other local hunters who are anxious for the official opening of the season, November 10, to come say the protection afforded by the government is in a large part responsible for the large number of birds. Several say that the big Mallard ducks and the quail will make "swell" hunting after the tenth of the month.
So far few Mallards have been seen in this locality although Teal have been plentiful.

Columbians who long for tender quail titbits have been pleased to note the large flocks of the birds near the city.
Some report having seen as many as sixty or seventy together.

Reports of the United States Department of Agriculture say that the quail are abundant in many localities of the United States this year. Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Illinois and Indiana have the most seen there for years according to the reports.
In a recent trip through northern and northwestern Indiana the bobwhite was seen in greater numbers than ever before and game wardens in many of the states in which there is no open season for quail report that the bobwhite is abundant in their localities. Ohio, Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas also have an abundance of this bird.

STAGE SET FOR CARNIVAL

Y. M. C. A. to Become Festive Scene of Harmless Revelry.

All townspeople and students in Columbia are invited to attend the Hallowe'en Carnival given by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. at 8 o'clock tonight in the Y. M. C. A. Building. A special invitation is also extended the business men of the city in appreciation of their active support of the local organization.
Countless old time customs and stunts will be featured in the "most elaborate Hallowe'en affair Columbia has ever had," according to F. H. Talbot, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The entire building will be used for the numerous and various stunts to be pulled off. The auditorium is to be given up to continuous vaudeville throughout the evening. The salient feature of the night will be a Hawaiian show, the cast of which is to be composed of girls from Stephens and Christian colleges, dressed in appropriate costume.

The basement of the building is to be used for the revival of the festival of Pomona, where harmless revelries will be performed. Weird witches, bright-eyed black cats, fortune telling and refreshment booths are just a few of the many things to be found there.

Harper's orchestra is to furnish the music. The arrangements are complete and a good time is planned for everyone. Admission is free and all are welcome.

NEWS OF THE STATE

Mountain Grove observed "Dairy Day" Thursday. Many dairymen and cattle raisers from the neighboring towns attended the meeting. The various herds and dairies of the town were inspected and the need and means of improving both herds and dairies were discussed.

More than 2,000 teachers are attending the forty-fourth annual Southwest Teachers' Association at Springfield this week-end. Twenty-two counties are represented. T. J. Walker of the University of Missouri; Dr. M. B. Hillegas of Columbia University; and Dr. J. L.
O'Brien of the Bureau of Education at Washington are among the speakers at the meeting.

Two hundred and fifty delegates representing 150 sub-orders of the state's combined membership of 12,000 in the Anti-Horse Thief Association for the Missouri division assembled at Windsor Wednesday for the fiftieth annual convention. Three new chapters have been organized in the state during the last year, according to a speech delivered by President Gray of the Association.

Ten carloads of ordnance, including everything in the way of war materials, from hand grenades to 155-millimeter guns, arrived Thursday at Kansas City from the government arsenal at Rock Island, Ill. These materials will form one of the special features in the big American Legion parade Tuesday. Another parade scheduled on Wednesday includes a gi-gantic band of 3,500 pieces and a combination of smaller units coming from all cities between Washington and the City of Mexico.

More than 2,000 delegates attended the Kansas City Highway Association which met in Butler Wednesday. The pledges up to that date for the Belvoir bridge stood at $12,000.

The state public service commission at Jefferson City issued an order Wednesday directing the railroads to make an estimated reduction in grain, grain products and hay rates of $3,607,900, based upon the present year's crop. The order of the commission becomes effective November 9.

AT THE THEATERS

Cozy.
Tonight—Buck Jones does his best acting in "Just Pals." Instead of the usual cowboy role, he plays the part of a ne'er-do-well whose name has long been lost even by himself. The picture has quite a bit of comedy as well as a romance. Helen Ferguson appears as a school teacher and little George Stone as a waif. There are two intense situations, one a lynching and the other a bank robbery.

LAWYERS HOLD MOCK TRIAL

Members of Phi Alpha Delta Argue on "Action in Negligence."

Members of the Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity held a mock trial in their room in the Virginia Building Thursday night. The title of the case was "Action in Negligence." The verdict was returned in favor of the defendant.
The jury was composed of University women, two of whom are law students.
They were: Misses Florence Meisner (foreman of the jury), Edith Hamby, Sarah Maloney, Geraldine Harper, Lucille Duncan and Alice Benson. Miss Serelda Zoff was plaintiff in the case.

"The jury followed the evidence remarkably well," said Carl L. Crocker, acting judge. Dupey G. Warrick and Paul M. Peterson appeared for the plaintiff and Ed Shook and J. W. Murphy represented the defendant. John Evans, W. R. Gentry and Howard Linton were witnesses.

The case was that of a man who was killed in a freight elevator in the Union depot of St. Louis last spring. When the case was tried in St. Louis the verdict was for the plaintiff but was reversed upon appealing the case.

The next trial will be held on November 3 and the subject will be "Assault With Intent to Kill."

Dixie Club to Have Float.

Plans for a float in the Homecoming parade were discussed at the meeting of the Dixie Club Thursday night. The following were appointed to make arrangements for the float: Miss Richardson, Ben Jumper, E. J. Curry and R. M. Gardner. The club plans to have a float that will be representative of the South. The entertainment committee proposed a dance for all members in the near future and another dance the first of next term.
